

Commies Open Offices in West Berlin

By JOHN FIEHN

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists today defied the West by opening two travel offices in West Berlin to issue permits for entry into the Red part of the city.

The offices were set up at two elevated railroad stations, the zoo and Kreuzberg. The elevated lines are administered throughout the city by the Communists under four-power agreement.

The West Berlin city government had announced the Reds would not be allowed to open their offices. A spokesman said consultations on what to do about the Red move were now being held with the Allied commanders.

The latest Red move posed the prospect of more trouble in the uneasy city. For years there has been a running East-West dispute over control of the elevated stations in the West.

The Western powers contend that only the rail tracks are under Red administration and that the platforms and booking offices are on Western territory.

As this new incident blew up the West police were already on alert for possible anti-Communist demonstrations.

A West Berlin police spokesman said special precautionary measures have been taken for "any eventuality."

Police worried that with most workers off for the weekend, thousands may take to the streets to demonstrate their disgust over Red threats to their freedom.

There was fear that the Berlin crisis would take a sharp turn for the worse if crowds got out of control.

"The people are restive," said a police spokesman. "We have alerted our forces and will be on guard."

He said demonstrations along the border Friday night were interpreted by police as foreboding more trouble today.

Several thousand angry West Berliners had cursed the Communists across the fences and walls, and the Red police retaliated with tear gas and water cannon.

Incidents were reported from at least four points along the 25-mile border dividing the city. At one point a crowd of 1,000 West Berliners jeered Red guards and shouted "Down with (Walter) Ulbricht!" the bearded Communist boss of East Germany.

East Berlin police claimed hundreds of West Berliners had thrown rocks at another point and seriously hurt a policeman.

East Berlin police headquarters claimed the West Berlin Senate had instigated the rock throwing and warned against any further "provocations."

Much of the growing anger among West Berliners seemed to be caused by apparent Communist preparation for further infringements of the city's freedom.

The Reds have threatened to interfere with rail lines linking the city with the West 110 miles away and with the civilian traffic in the Allied air corridors.

Andrew Smirnov, the Soviet ambassador to Bonn, Friday night said all Western civilian airlines flying into Berlin must be subjected "as soon as possible" to Communist East German control.

Passenger airlines in and out of Berlin are Pan American, the British European Airways, and Air France.

The Soviet Union in a note to the United States has charged that spies, agitators and saboteurs are being ferried into West Berlin through the Allied air routes.

Lion District Governor Visits Hope Club Monday

Ben M. McCray

District Governor Ben M. McCray of Benton, Lions District 7K, will visit the Hope Lions club Monday, Aug. 28, for the annual inspection.

Governor McCray presented the charter to the Hope Lions club when it was established in 1946. He has been an active Lion since 1938, and has held the office of deputy district governor, and zone chairman before becoming district governor.

Mr. McCray is an attorney and an active lay worker in the Methodist church of Benton, where he is a teacher of the men's bible class and a member of the board of stewards.

The man on the street is definitely wrapped up in his hour-to-hour and day-to-day pursuits. It is as though he has decided this is a problem for somebody else, namely the Western Allies and the Soviets, and until they sort themselves out he is going ahead with normal living.

What such normal living means is the theater, the movies, sports, the beer halls, the night clubs. People are putting new coats of paint on their houses. They are pruning and preening their gardens. They are buying on credit and looking for mortgages where necessary.

Except for the spots right on the barricaded border with East Berlin, the night clubs are blazing away. A barman at one of them, asked how business was, commented nonchalantly:

"Normal."

Normal kept that particular barman hopping.

A new night club opened just as the East German Reds put their clamp on the town and spread worry around the globe. Called the Smoky, it specializes in a quick drink, a quick bar girl, a sort of strip-tease and a wall-opping check. Well decorated and well staffed, the spot had to do business quickly to avoid going to the wall, and it's doing the business.

Berlin Not Bothered by Crisis

By THOMAS A. REEDY

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin, faced with a new crisis, is living it up.

The East German moves to gobble them up don't see to faze the West Berliners for a moment. They are interested, somewhat concerned, perhaps even disturbed but—

The man on the street is definitely wrapped up in his hour-to-hour and day-to-day pursuits. It is as though he has decided this is a problem for somebody else, namely the Western Allies and the Soviets, and until they sort themselves out he is going ahead with normal living.

President of Brazil Quits; Hint Force

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — President Janio Quadros resigned today, saying he could not continue his efforts to give Brazil economic and political liberation because of pressure inside Brazil and from abroad.

Quadros had served as president seven months. His resignation came on the heels of a violent week long attack on his independent foreign policy. He has sought closer relations with Soviet Russia and other Communist bloc nations and refused to take a stand against Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba.

Moscow Radio announced today he had accepted an invitation to exchange diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and agreed to visit Moscow.

The reins of government were passed to the Chamber of Deputies president, Ranieri Mazzilia, a member of former President Juscelino Kubitschek's middle-of-the-road Social Democratic party.

Vice President Joao Goulart was on a trip to the Far East.

"I tried to do my duty without rancor," Quadros said.

Quadros put blame for the situation on what he called the forces working against him inside and outside Brazil. He did not specify the foreign forces.

In a message to the people, Quadros said he worked day and night "without rancor in an effort to conduct a country on a course to political and economic freedom and liberation, but my efforts failed in the face of the corruption, lies and the cowardliness of groups and individuals, including some abroad."

Quadros said he felt himself "smashed by a force working against me."

He said he resigned because he feared he might not be able to "maintain the public peace."

Apparently referring to one of the main attacks on his foreign policy, Gov. Carlos Lacerda of Guanabara state, who had threatened to resign, Quadros said:

"I do not lack courage to resign."

He added:

"I am going back to my work as a lawyer and professor."

Lacerda meanwhile locked himself in the governor's palace in Rio de Janeiro with close aides.

Lacerda said Thursday night in a speech he knew of a plot to overthrow democratic rule in Brazil.

There was no sign of immediate tension in Rio de Janeiro as radio stations began broadcasting the resignation message.

A presidential palace spokesman said Quadros flew to Sao Paulo with his family. He won a landslide victory in presidential elections last year.

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — President Janio Quadros of Brazil submitted his resignation today, the palace at Brasilia announced.

The president was reported already to have left the capital of Brasilia when the announcement was made by his press secretary, Joao de Janeiro or Sao Paulo.

Justice Minister Pedroso Horta was said to have delivered an official message to Congress turning over Quadros' presidential powers to the president of the Chamber of Deputies, Ranieri Mazzilia, a member of former President Juscelino Kubitschek's Social Democrats.

Vice President Joao Goulart, nationalist leftist leader belonging to the Brazilian Labor party, is visiting in the Far East.

Carlos Lacerda, governor of the state of Guanabara, reported Thursday night he knew of a plot to overthrow democratic rule in Brazil.

Lacerda said he had been invited to take part in a coup aimed at putting Congress in permanent recess. That would tend to let the presidential office rule by decree.

Lacerda said the invitation came from Quadros' minister of justice, Pedroso Horta. The story was denied by Horta, and the Justice Ministry called Lacerda's speech an act. Lacerda has been feuding with Quadros for weeks.

$848,000 Loans Give Approval

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The First Arkansas Development Finance Corp. today reported approval of 10 loans totaling $848,750 during the first six months of 1961.

In the same period, it said, eight loans totaling $586,250 were disbursed. In the two years since it began operation, the report said, the corporation has approved 26 loans totaling $3,463,000 and disbursed $1,674,750 in 13 loans for industrial financing.

It said First Arkansas now has about $2.5 million available for industrial lending.

Living Cost Strikes New High Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose to a new high in July. The increase as compared with June was nearly one-half of one per cent, the biggest advance in nine months.

The Labor Department reported today that its index of consumer prices rose from 127.6 to 128.1 in the index, 100 represents average prices in 1947-49. Prices in July thus were 28.1 per cent higher than during the base years.

The exact amount of the increase from June to July was 0.4 per cent.

Higher food prices were the biggest single factor in the increase. There also were important advances in prices of gasoline, sporting goods, used cars and women's clothing.

Hoffa Loses Cincinnati Crucial Vote

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — James R. Hoffa has suffered the greatest defeat of his career in Cincinnati, according to James Lukan, leader of 4,000 Teamsters.

The rebels, in four locals, voted last week to leave the Teamsters Union and join the AFL-CIO.

Lukan was referring to the decision of Judge Charles S. Bell of Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Thursday to grant a temporary restraining order tying up the funds of the rebel locals while refusing to recognize Teamsters Vice President Harold Gibbons as trustee for the locals.

"What this amounts to," Lukan said Thursday night, "is that the judge told us to carry on until the Teamsters take the matter up again later. By that time we'll have had our National Labor Relations Board election and this thing will be settled."

Lukan filed a petition with the NLRB last week to conduct an election by secret ballot on whether the members of his 2,200-member dairy drivers local want to quit the Teamsters.

The members of the local took a standing vote on the question. Hoffa and Gibbons refused to recognize the validity of this and when Lukan resisted Gibbons' attempt to take over the local, the Teamsters asked for the court order.

The revolt, meanwhile, spread to Middletown, where Lukan's agents signed up some 60 members of Teamsters Local 836 for his new Milk and Ice Cream Drivers and Dairy Employees Union of Greater Cincinnati and vicinity.

The board would have headquarters in Little Rock, with a permanent executive secretary.

It would have 10 members with overlapping terms. No more than two members could be from any one of the present six congressional districts and no more than three members could be graduates of any one school.

A vote on the bills could come Monday—or earlier if rules were suspended.

Some legislators have said establishment of such a "super board" is the key to any construction appropriations for the institutions. The board bills need only a majority to pass but appropriations measures need a three-fourths vote.

That means nine senators could block appropriations until an overall board is set up. And nine senators joined Sen. Tom Allen of Brinkley in signing the bill he introduced. Rep. Marion Crank of Little Rock County sponsored the bill in the House.

Laboratory to Study and Cure Chicken Disease Is Hope's Newest Industry

By MARY ANITA LASETER

There is nothing new about a laboratory where research is done to help people. But one to help chickens is something different. At least, it is for our area.

The increase in chicken production, however, means an increase in attempts to deal with the problems created. That is why a new kind of laboratory is being established here by Frejohn, Inc. on Candy Street.

Doyle Dunn will be the poultry diagnostician at the laboratory, which will serve Frejohn, Delight Egg Farms, Corn Belt Hatcheries, and Southland Farms. Chicken ranchers, over an approximate 50 mile radius working with these four enterprises will bring their sick poultry to the laboratory for analysis of their trouble and suggestions for treatment as well as prevention of future difficulties.

A native of Osceola, Mr. Dunn was graduated from Arkansas State College at Jonesboro with a major in biology. He worked as a surgical technician in Jonesboro, and recently received a month's instruction in his new work at the Ilyline headquarters in Des Moines, Iowa. He and Mrs. Dunn are at home in Hope at 222 East Avenue "B".

Is it unusual to be so concerned about the health of a chicken? Not when you think about it from either the humanitarian or the economical standpoint. Chickens, like people, get sick. If people in laboratories can determine the cause and cure of human illnesses it is certainly logical that they would be able to help out their little feathered friends too. By September 1 the new lab will be in full operation.

A chicken has a gizzard. To take the place of teeth. But it didn't get a wizard. For help in time of grief, until a lab was started. On Candy Street in Hope. There, "sick" and "well" are parted.

The 80-day cooling off period under the injunction, which was to have expired Sept. 21, eventually brought settlements between the unions and most of the firms operating passenger, cargo and tanker vessels.

One of the last major settlements came Thursday night when the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association came to terms with the United States Lines, Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., Grace Lines and Farrell Lines.

In the new contract, the union won one of its chief demands—the right to organize engineers on American-owned ships operated under foreign registry. Company-union groups will work out details later.

Ship operators had balked at this for years because they could employ crew members at lower pay scales on such vessels.

A union spokesman said agreements also have been concluded with the Tanker Labor Service Committee on behalf of 13 of the 16 tanker companies with which the union has contracts.

Other unions in the strike were the Masters, Mates and Pilots; the American Radio Association; the Seafarers International Union and the National Maritime Union. They also have resolved differences with most of the companies they serve.

May Call Guardsmen in October

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are that the Army will begin bringing into federal service by early or mid-October some of the 37 National Guard units which have been alerted for callup.

This seemed to be suggested in Army answers to questions today about possible methods for bringing alerted units up to full strength.

Under the law, a member of a reserve outfit or an individual reservist cannot be transferred involuntarily to a National Guard unit while that unit is still under control of a state. He may be assigned only temporarily for training.

However, he may be "designated" in advance, a spokesman explained. This means that he may be informed in advance that if and when a certain National Guard unit goes into federal service—and passes out from under state authority—he will be assigned as a filler to build up strength of that unit.

The fillers would be drawn from reserve outfits which themselves have not been alerted for possible call.

Such notification to individuals, under the new program, must be made by Sept. 15, the Army said.

This appeared to indicate that the Army is shaping its plans to provide for summoning in the month following Sept. 15 at least some of the 37 National Guard units, and possibly some of the 76 U.S. Army Reserve units, which have been alerted.

Fish Kept Him Awake, Saved Life

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—"I owe my life to the fish," Jimmy Seals, 18, said from his hospital bed Thursday after being pulled from the choppy waters of the Gulf of Mexico, ending a 22-hour swim for survival.

Time and again, he said, fish nuzzled "and pestered" him and kept him awake.

Crewmen of a fishing vessel rescued Seals, exhausted and sunburned, after he swam and floated without a life jacket for nearly a day off the Texas coast.

Two companions, Rickie and Buddy Halters, brothers, 16 and 14, were rescued after only 6 hours and 45 minutes in the water.

Their 21-foot skiff overturned and sank on an excursion from a pair of fishing vessels on which they worked 35 miles offshore.

Seals, of Port Arthur, Texas, told of the night-long ordeal. Hospital attendants said he appeared in good condition.

"The fish pestered me all night long."

He was clad in only a swimsuit.

Seals said he fell asleep several times.

About dawn he saw the Sabine I, a fishing vessel. It was about three miles away, but it was much later before Seals was sighted and lifted aboard. A Navy helicopter brought him to shore.

Happy Holzapfel's working home was a glassed-in pad four feet above the main floor of his thriving establishment. This office, or crew's nest, ran along the front wall of the showroom and office area for ten feet, thence through the partition that separated said showroom and office area from the wide and friendly entrance ramp to the shop.

From the stern eminence of an unpadding swivel chair Holzapfel could be in rapport with most of the profitable functions of the business. If there were any unprofitable ones, no one ever had discovered them.

Swinging west, Holzapfel surveyed the filling station. The three attendants were briskly smearing windshields, while hoses with automatic shutoffs that worked as soon as a tank was full and one gallon spilled on the pavement were dumping large amounts of petrol into automobiles.

The happy attendants were currently in a contest to see who could sell the most Slideasy Oil, who refined three grades of pure Pennsylvania out of Texas crude, had supplied as first prize a beautiful Swiss watch made in Japan, retail value $43.95, cost to dealers who participated in the contest, $6.45.

Holzapfel frowned. Willie Twombly had just let a car escape without even raising the hood. No matter that the driver had said the oil was all right; you just didn't let them get away that easy.

That Willie needed a bit of talking to. When the contest was announced, he'd been surly, saying he didn't want a beer-can watch anyway. Very uncooperative, almost treasonable. Holzapfel's was one big family team—or else!

A quarter turn west and Holzapfel viewed the parts department, the tire department, and, quite close, the large and friendly entrance to the shop.

Since his mechanics worked on commission with the parts department, they patronized it frequently, darting from the shop with greasy lists in their hands, staggering back under loads of car batteries, fuel pumps, mufflers, gaskets, pistons, spark plugs—everything that was removable from an automobile.

Assumably, all that material went into the cars in question, though some customers often swore that the mechanics spent most of their time, at a jolly $4.50 an hour, smearing grease on seats and steering wheels.

As far as Holzapfel was concerned, that charge was infamous. Into the entrance area limped an Indiana car, a bald-headed man at the wheel, beside him a worried wife, and in the back seat, barely visible beneath a litter of candy bar wrappers, soft drink bottles, comic books, cowboy hats, etc., three kids.

Holzapfel grinned like a Tasmanian wolf.

Fred Derwent, the service manager, came hurrying up. The Indiana motorist gave him a tale of woe, during which the man's wife reached back and smacked one of the boys who was beating his brother's over the head with an 18-inch outline Special.

Derwent looked toward the shop and signaled. Lurking there behind a pillar, Sludge Goodwin came shambling out.

A sledge-hammer mechanic of the old school, Goodwin faithfully followed the principle: Never use force, just get a bigger hammer.

He looked like a veteran who had kept the first Apperson Jack-rabbits winning races. He inspired confidence in the role of a man who had seen them all in his time, who could go to the heart of the matter in a moment.

Sludge listened to the engine for a few moments. He dipped his head suddenly, squinted, observed something terrible. He gave the $20 headshake and motioned disgustedly for the man to shut her off.

The headshake caused the bald-headed man to pale and to start figuring how many good old traveler's checks he had left, but at the same time he knew he was in the hands of a seasoned old-timer who would give it to him straight. In fairness to Sludge, it was not all acting, for every time he raised the hood newer than 1935, he saw gadgets that utterly stumped him.

Sludge grunted and took another look at the engine, and he was so disgusted at what he saw that the owner felt ashamed for owning such a miserable wreck, even if it was only six months old. Shaking his head, Sludge walked back to the shop.

"I'll get him on it," Derwent said confidentially. "He's a bear-cat to get along with, but . . . He shook his head, implying that all geniuses were eccentric.

Fort Polk Is to Be Reactivated

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today notified Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., that Ft. Polk, in central Louisiana, will be reactivated and used as a training base.

Long said the President notified him that a training division of about 14,000 men will be moved to the base in September and that the base will be in full operation in October.

The base, Long said, will have a permanent cadre of 4,400 military personnel and 400 civilians.

Polk was a big World War II training base.

The Army closed it a few years ago.

Dying Girl Unnoticed in Busy Street

CHATSWORTH, Calif. (AP)—Motorists merely glanced curiously at a group of screaming women. A girl lay near death, a three-quarter inch nail lodged in her throat.

Alma Gomez, 4, ran home from play Thursday, crying that she had swallowed a nail. Her mother, Carmen Gomez, 32, had no telephone or car.

She ran into the street, carrying

Shouts and Murmurs

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear HELEN: You printed a letter from a girl who worried about the company her boy friend kept. My boy friend goes with a group of boys who haven't the best reputations in the world but, since he works hard in school and on his job, I feel he is entitled to spend his spare time as he sees fit.

I trust him because I know him. If this girl can't trust her boy friend she should not be going with him. Forcing him to give up his friend won't help. If she sees flaws in his character, I say, "Break, before it's too late!"

She's a weakling herself if she listens to gossip. Heaven knows why, but most people would rather gossip than not and, in the process, wreck another's reputation by hearsay. Let her take her boy friend as he is. Ask him to stay out of trouble and leave it at that. —Trusting Girl Friend.

Dear Trusting: I like your philosophy. Love is not love which would alter another's personality. But that does not mean we should fail to encourage those we love to be their best selves. Condoning the bad company they keep produces the opposite effect.

Dear Helen: I've just read your column on mothers-in-law. Yes, some are wonderful, as in my sister's case. But I have a mother and a mother-in-law who dominated my husband and myself ever since we were first engaged.

After five years of marriage, we've put our foot down, figuratively speaking, and announced in no uncertain terms that we intend to lead our own lives with our children. Naturally, this causes many a headache; but if we have to move to another town we intend to carry out our intentions.

I say to all wives: try to get along with the family amicably and if they tell you what to do, listen politely but go your own way. Here's a strange thing: My stepmother means all the world to me, treats me like her own daughter and, believe me, I do my best to show her I'm grateful! —Heartsick.

Dear Heartsick: A stepmother as fine as yours, proves that life has its compensations.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Mothers-in-Law."

Self-Help Wives' Rule as Men Go

MANNHEIM, Germany (AP)—Some 300 women are working together here to solve the problems that result when the head of the family suddenly leaves home.

They are the wives left behind when the 1,500 men of the 1st Battle Group, 18th Infantry, pulled out on short notice last weekend to reinforce the U.S. garrison in Berlin.

"Are we going to Berlin too? What happens to us now? When can we expect to see our husbands again?" Those are the questions they ask, and for the time being there is no answer.

The women have organized to help each other. An information center has been set up to handle both routine inquiries and special tasks.

At a meeting of the wives Thursday, Mrs. Glover S. Johns, wife of the commanding colonel, told the women not to add to the men's burdens.

"We must not worry them by writing the latest rumors we hear," she said. "We must keep their morale high through our actions and our telephone calls and letters."

PARIS (AP)—Exiled Spanish Gen. Valentino Gonzales has been put under house arrest in northern France, the Interior Ministry announced today. Gonzales, a Communist leader known as El Camposino during the Spanish Civil War, was accused of directing a recent series of raids into Spain by Spanish exiles based in France.

Steps Taken in Legislature Toward Fund

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The moves toward a permanent state construction fund were taken in the Arkansas Legislature today.

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee recommended passage of a bill submitted Thursday by Rep. Glenn F. Walther of Pulaski County to set up a $4 million fund for this purpose.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton introduced a somewhat similar bill in the Senate.

Harvey's bill also called for a $4 million fund, but it wouldn't be derived in exactly the same way as Walther's.

Walther told the House committee he had tried to set up a permanent plan for capital improvements to prevent construction emergencies such as resulted in the present special session.

"We got into this trouble," he said, "because we haven't provided for construction except at rag-tag intervals." Walther said, "If we get a plan and stick with it, we'll never have an emergency again."

Walther explained his bill would set aside $2.5 million from the revenue stabilization fund after the first $102 million is allocated. Added to this would be an estimated $1.5 million a year from excess use taxes and income from recent expansions in the horse and dog race seasons.

Little River County Rep. Marion Crank said Walther's plan tied in perfectly with his proposal to create an overall board of control of institutions of higher learning. He said the overall board would be in position to recommend construction allocations from the fund.

Walther said the fund would be allocated to various institutions strictly on a basis of need, instead of under a percentage formula as most of the appropriations scheduled in this session.

Harvey's bill would give the first $4 million of general revenue, after $102 million has been allocated, to the construction fund.

Camposino during the Spanish Civil War, was accused of directing a recent series of raids into Spain by Spanish exiles based in France.

A GOOD EXAMPLE OF WOODLAND MANNERS! Use the outdoors with some respect—thanks!

AMERICA AFLOAT

NEW PROCESS OFFERS FANCY FOODS AFLOAT By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Peanut butter sandwiches need no longer be the staple food item for the pleasure boating family. From rowboats to large cruisers, there is room to cook the new specialties aboard.

This season's addition to the instant conveniences that include instant coffee, tea, milk, soup, cocoa, orange juice and cream in powdered form is almost instant meat.

In the past, refrigeration has been necessary if meat was to be stored aboard for any length of time. Canned meats were an alternate choice, but they could be heavy and cans might rust. Worse still, moist air might cause a paper label to fall off and can-opener cookery could become a guessing game.

The meats, usually weigh only one-quarter as much as the original products. A process that freezes and dries the meat at the same time is said to remove 98 per cent of the moisture. The result is packaged in foil, needs no refrigeration. It can be stored for at least a year with other supplies in a galley cupboard, under a bunk or even in a fishing tackle box.

So far, beef steaks, boneless pork chops, open hearth beef stew, rice and chicken dinner, chicken stew, ham patty mix and cooked scrambled eggs are available. To prepare, you soak it in water from 3 to 15 minutes, depending on the item, and then cook or fry it.

The test of food is how it tastes. We carried some of the pork chops and scrambled eggs in the hot glove compartment and then the trunk of our car. Then we left them aboard the boat a week before getting up nerve to try the stuff.

We started with the scrambled eggs. No ex-GI would forget the Army's noble experiment with powdered eggs and a flavor that would make a chicken ashamed. But these turned out quite well. They're not going to put fresh eggs out of business, but with proper seasoning they should be an excellent offshore substitute.

How To Enjoy A Reel Sport

A moonlit summer night during flood tide off the Florida coast... a lure no angler can resist! It's the ideal time for tarpon fishing... a chance to pit your muscle against the coast...

How many fishermen thrill to the challenge, pack gear, raise anchor, and head for the open water, only to find they can't cope with catch and rolling, pitching seas?

From the coasts of Florida to the Pacific shore of California to the salmon-rich lakes of Maine, each summer, 20,000,000 American sportsmen take advantage of the diversified angling the nation's waterways afford. They spend an annual $2 billion for 400,000,000 man days of fishing.

For them, nothing can dampen the excitement of the battle with that big one... nothing except seasickness! Any fisherman will tell you the queasy, headachey, drowsy feeling is worse than coming home without a catch.

That's why thousands of ardent anglers keep Bonadettes aboard ship. The non-prescription, fruit-flavored tablets are the longest acting motion sickness preventive available—they'll keep you fit to out-fox those fish all day.

The rest of the family—especially the kids—will also enjoy game fishing from their first trip on, if they're protected in advance against rough going. Just you bait and reel!

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

FISHING TIME

The greatest fishing period and the heaviest concentration of anglers is during the vacation months of June, July and August. Some fish the year round, including through the ice. Spring is an excellent time to try your luck, if you don't mind the unpredictable weather. It's at this time that the fish move into the shallows to feed and spawn. They are easier to get, especially if they school up—as do the walleye, white bass, stripers, crappie, bluegill and bream.

During the summer when the water warms, it's best to concentrate efforts in the early morning, evening and at night.

If you don't care for night fishing, try starting about 4 a.m. or at daybreak. You'll be surprised at the lunker-size bass and walleyes that can be picked up at this early hour, especially during the summer.

Fall fishing improves with the cooling waters. Many anglers, unfortunately, put away their tackle just after Labor Day. This is wrong. Game fish, the big ones, especially, begin to gorge for the winter ahead.

September, October and November could be the most productive months.

Hoffa Asking Union Aids to Choose

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, is asking heads of AFL-CIO unions to choose sides between him and George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

Hoffa sent out telegrams to presidents of the AFL-CIO unions seeking their opinions of Meany's recent statement commending secession of four Cincinnati, Ohio, Teamsters locals. Several of the seceding locals are reported set to join the AFL-CIO Brewery Workers.

Hoffa said he was shocked to find out that Meany welcomed raids on the Teamsters and had referred to the Teamsters as gangster-dominated.

There was no immediate response from Meany or other AFL-CIO chiefs. But an AFL-CIO source called attention to Hoffa's declaration at the Teamsters convention in early July that the Teamsters would organize all workers as yet unorganized in jurisdictions of other unions.

"So what's he complaining about?" the AFL-CIO source said. "It sounds like Hoffa is getting a bit panicky."

Several AFL-CIO union heads receiving Hoffa's telegram declined to comment or say whether they would send a reply. One suggested forming a rival AFL-CIO outfit to fight Hoffa.

Hoffa called Meany's support of the defecting Cincinnati Teamsters locals a shameful performance by one "who boasts he never walked a picket line."

Gangster charges against the Teamsters, Hoffa's telegram said, "more befit the anti-labor spokesmen of this country than the man who claims to, but does not really, speak for the working man."

Hoffa expressed doubt that Meany really expressed the desire of all AFL-CIO affiliates "to declare open season" on the Teamsters. But if that is the case, Hoffa warned, "We are confident our membership will rise to the challenge."

Before Hoffa's telegrams were sent out, James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, issued a statement calling for establishment of a rival AFL-CIO Teamsters organization.

Not a CENT for GOD!

What a story here! And it's all written down, too. The stub of an old check book! Here is part of the story of what one man wanted most in life. Here he selected and paid for the things dearest to his heart. Here is the measuring stick by which he determined things most valuable to him ... his selection, then his check, his money. Mister, what would the stubs of one of your old check books reveal? Suppose in the future friends of yours should thumb through it. Would you be proud of your portrait there? Would you be ashamed of the relative importance it gave to the church on the corner? Don't kid yourself. As a good steward of the goodness of God, act on your better judgment today. Your church needs you, and you need your church.

You in The Church... The Church in You...
Form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. Be a faithful worker. Attend every service.
